STATE TAX LEVY
FOR 1921 FIXED
BY STATE BOARDTelephonic Communication Results in Levy Being Certified to County Auditors

INCREASE OVER YEAR AGO

Levy Including Soldiers Bonus
Will be 3.38 Mills as Compared to 1.9 Last Year

George E. Wallace, state tax commissioner, has certified out to the county auditors the levy for the state for the year 1921. In this levy 2.28 mills is for the general fund and .10 for interest on real estate bonds recently sold by the Bank of North Dakota and for the first time in years, no levy is necessary for the state bond sinking fund. There is a 1 mill soldiers bonus levy. The old state bonds at this time have been retired until they are practically wiped out and there are funds on hand from former levies to take care of the sinking fund this year.

The total levy for 1921 as announced by Mr. Wallace will be general fund, 2.28 mills; interest on real estate bonds, .10; soldiers bonus, 1 mill; total 3.38. Last year it was general fund, 1.94 mills; state bond sinking fund, .05 mills; state bond interest, .05 mill; soldiers bonus, .15 mills; total 1.99 mills.

Amounts to be raised this year are general fund, $3,141,840; real estate bonds interest $137,735; soldiers bonus, $1,377,355.

Amounts last year, general fund, $1,566,553; state bond sinking fund, $71,791; state bond interest, $33,840; soldiers bonus, $125,000. Soldiers bonus nets little more in 1921 than last year although rate increased because of decreased valuation made by the state board.

Mr. Wallace got in touch with some members of the state board of equalization over the telephone, and the tax levy is certified out to the auditors with assurance that when the state board meets, probably not until after election, it will formally pass the levy. Members of the state board are the Governor, Attorney-General, Commissioner of Agriculture and Labor, State Treasurer and Commissioner of Insurance.

Mr. Wallace, in discussing the raise in the levy said as follows: "The levy for 1921 has increased over 1920 for various reasons. The legislature at its last session appropriated more money than had ever been appropriated before in the history of the state. No party is responsible for this because the power was divided. The house and the senate being opposed to each other politically. The 1921 legislature appropriated practically $1,000,000 more than the preceding legislature."

"In addition to this, the deflation period which has overtaken the whole civilized world, caused a material slump in the income tax collections, both of persons and corporations."

"The capital stock tax now is in litigation and is now awaiting disposal in the Supreme Court of the United States. The railway companies have failed to pay several years taxes under this law, waiting the decision of the courts."

"In addition to the above, there has been a general failure of collection of taxes, which in some parts of the state, has seriously embarrassed local government. At this time there is approximately 50 per cent of the real property taxes unpaid, also, the taxes on bank stock, with few exceptions, remain unpaid at this time and are in litigation. These conditions made it necessary to levy 125 per cent of the amount which otherwise would be levied, in time of course when these real property taxes are paid, it will mean a reduction in taxation some time in the future. Experience has taught that there is always a loss in the collection of taxes which approximate 10 per cent."

Educational Cost
The educational appropriation by the last session of the legislature increased over the appropriation two years prior, amounting to 73.49 per cent. The cost of maintaining the judiciary increased but 2.61 per cent, while the cost of maintaining the penal and charitable institutions increased 11.17 per cent.

"On the other hand, the following decreases were made:

	Per Cent
Legislature	26.23
State Departments	14.81
Military Appropriation	25
State Emergency	56.52
Public Printing	26.6
State Fairs	19.7
Bounties	29.02
Miscellaneous	17.05
State Industries	96.55

"From the above figures, it will be noticed that the greatest increase is for education. This does not deal with the local schools, but the institutions of higher learning."

"In addition to the levy above mentioned, the legislature at its last session provided a levy of one mill on all of the taxable property for the benefit of the returned soldiers."

For Justice—May Receive
$5000

By N. E. A. Service.
Madison, Wis., Oct. 14.—John A. Johnson, a life-terminer, who has served 10 years of his sentence, sits in his cell in the penitentiary at Waupun, while the state is gathering the evidence expected to show he is innocent.

After 10 years Martin Lemberger has been arrested charged with the murder of his five-year-old daughter, for whose death Johnson was sent to prison. The trial of Lemberger will be held within the coming month.

For 10 years Johnson has been protesting his innocence, although he pleaded guilty. He has always claimed that he made this plea to save himself from a mob which the officers had told him were storming the jail to lynch him.

After entering the penitentiary, Johnson wrote letter after letter to state officials, repeating, "I am innocent! I never committed this crime."

Inquiry Ordered
Finally an investigation was ordered by Gov. Blaine on an application for a pardon. Into the hearing came a woman who demanded that the officials listen to her story. Her face was lined with worry.

She said she was Mrs. May Sorenson and had known the Lembergers for years.

"The day following the murder," she swore, "Lemberger's little boy, Alois, confessed to me that his father killed the child."

Little Annie Lemberger disappeared from her home Sept. 5, 1911. She was about six years old. At first it was thought she had been kidnapped.

Searching parties were organized and the whole community was ransacked from cellar to garret.

Johnson, known to police as "Dog-Skin" Johnson, was taken to the police station. There was no definite information pointing to his guilt. His previous court record, however, placed him under suspicion. And he confessed under the third degree.

Father's Threat

Martin Lemberger and his wife have continued to make their home at Madison. Whenever there was any talk of a pardon for Johnson, Lemberger would issue a statement that "if Johnson is given his freedom, I will take care of him."

Then on Aug. 28, 1920, Maude E. Bunker, a school teacher of Lodi, Wis., wrote to Gov. Philipp, stating that a relative of Lemberger had told her that the father had committed the crime. She said she could not sleep since she had learned of the injustice. Mrs. Johnson hired lawyers with money earned by washing.

When John J. Blaine was inaugurated governor, last January, the Johnson family renewed their efforts to obtain a pardon.

Woman's Story
Mrs. Sorenson told the pardon board she was called to the Lemberger home the morning of the disappearance of the child and found the mother weeping.

After a time little Alois told her that the father had hit the child over the head with a beer bottle at a "beer party" the night before; that his sister had died in a few minutes; and that the father hid the body under a tub in the cellar. Then a man was paid $25 to throw the body in the lake.

Mrs. Sorenson said she had seen the hood-stained pillow slips from the bed where Annie had been laid; she found the nightgown worn by the child, soaked in blood, and the mother had torn it from her and put it into the stove.

"I held my tongue for 10 years," she said, "because Martin Lemberger had threatened to choke me if I should reveal anything."

Arraigned in court, Lemberger has pleaded not guilty and his bail was fixed at $10,000.

Should Lemberger be convicted Johnson will be freed and will be paid $5,000.

KU KLUX HEAD
COLLAPSES ON
WITNESS STANDWilliam J. Simmons Head of Order Breaks Down Under Grill-ing of Committee

TELLS OF ORDER'S PURPOSE

Declares That if Organization is Found Unworthy He Will Help to Destroy It

Washington, Oct. 14.—With its star witness, William J. Simmons, founder and imperial wizard of the Ku Klux Klan under physician's care, the house rules committee prepared today to continue its inquiry into the organization and activities of the order.

Simmons was found to be suffering from "bronchitis" and nervous exhaustion," it was said yesterday after his collapse on the stand and the attending physicians doubted whether he would be able to undergo the cross-examination which was scheduled.

Solemn Stillness Prevails
A solemn stillness prevailed at times while the wizard, hiding aloft the ritual of the Klan, read parts of the oath taken by Klansmen during the hearing yesterday afternoon. And then in husky tones he told the committee that while Julius Caesar had his Brutus and Washington his Benedict Arnold, he too, as imperial wizard of the Ku Klux Klan, could end that fellowship because he had suffered from the reasonable conduct of those within.

"If this organization is unworthy let me know and I will destroy it," he exclaimed, "but if it is not, then let it stand."

Turning to the crowd, Simmons declared he wanted to "call upon the Father to forgive those who had persecuted the Klan" and as the words left his lips, he tumbled into a heap.

The first dramatic incident of the day was the sudden appearance of Senator Thomas E. Watson of Georgia, who edged his way through the crowd, stepped up and seized the wizard by the hand. "Whispering something, he turned and sat down, but a moment later he was on his feet, demanding the right to question the witness in "the interest of fair play."

Watson is Insistent
Chairman Campbell broke in to say that the witness was getting that, and that it was not in line with the regular procedure to permit questions by outsiders.

Senator Watson insisted he had the right, first announcing, however, that he was not a Klansman, although in sympathy with its aims, and the chairman cut through the colloquy by directing the senator to proceed. The senator merely asked the wizard if he knew of the big salaries being voted by congress for shipping bond lawyers reaching as high as $35,000 which the people had to pay. With that Mr. Watson left.

Through the testimony of Mr. Simmons, the committee learned that the total membership of the Klan, heralded as having passed the half million mark, actually was around 50,000. The witness declared that its growth east and west had been greater than in the south, but his illness prevented questioning designed to bring out facts bearing on some of the present strongholds of the organization. Asked if he had not claimed a "million membership," Mr. Simmons smilingly replied he might have done so, but that he was speaking generally, not by the card.

Not Under Law
Representative Garrett, Democrat, Tennessee, took the witness in hand to find out something about its revenue and profits, asking if the membership fees had been listed as donations rather than fees to prevent collection of federal corporation taxes. Simmons replied there was never a thought of that, declaring that when the tax law first became effective, he went to the revenue office at Atlanta.

WAGE CUTS ARE HELD NECESSARY FOR RATE CUTS

Chicago, Oct. 14.—Immediate reduction of freight rates on agricultural products for a trial period of from 60 to 90 days pending further wage reductions was one of the principles presented to high railroad officers at the conference of railroad executives today.

A general policy of wage and freight rates was the dominating topic under discussion.

Realization that the legal steps necessary to lower wages and transportation charges would delay any benefits to the public indefinitely was said to be responsible for a definite proposal to aid agricultural production.

According to railroad officials a temporary reduction of rates on farm products was thought to be possible with comparatively little delay. A tentative reduction of 10 per cent was suggested.

OLD ELEVATOR
BONDS OF STATE
ARE CANCELLEDIndustrial Commission Turns
Back Issue of $120,000
to Treasurer

New mill and elevator bonds of the issue the Industrial Commission now is offering for sale are being prepared.

Carrying out an intention announced sometime ago, the Industrial Commission yesterday cancelled its outstanding mill and elevator bonds amounting to $120,000, bearing 5 per cent interest, and will issue new bonds and will issue new bonds bearing 6 per cent interest.

The Industrial Commission got back a mortgage of $500,000 in so doing. There had been $120,000 of mill and elevator bonds sold, for this amount.

$25,000 had been sold. The Industrial Commission desired to increase the rate of interest on the bonds it now is trying to sell to 6 per cent. It was necessary, therefore, to cancel the old bonds issued since the mortgage was based on 5 per cent bonds. The commission was unable to find the holders of $1,400 of bonds and placed cash with the state treasurer in lieu of these bonds, together with interest money to redeem them.

The Industrial Commission had issued a $500,000 mortgage on the Drake mill and property to be acquired. It is expected a new mortgage will be executed on the mill and elevator property, on which the new 6 per cent bonds will be based.

Monday It Is Announced

London, Oct. 14. (By the Associated Press).—The conference of Sinn Fein leaders and members of the British cabinet convened at 11 o'clock this morning in Prime Minister Lloyd George's official residence in Downing street with a view of reaching an agreement for settlement of the Irish question, adjourned at 1:30 o'clock today, Monday.

While the conference was in session today Desmond, Sinn Fein minister of propaganda, said no hitch in negotiations thus far had occurred and that the Sinn Fein delegates anticipated prolonged proceedings.

Demand Further Cuts
The railway executives declined to indicate what definite steps were under discussion for proposing further wage reductions which under their plan would be necessary before shippers could expect freight reductions.

The July wage reduction of 12 per cent ordered by the railroad labor board, the executives declared, merely starved off bankruptcy for many months.

The strike vote of the Brotherhoods and shopcrafts resulting from this wage cut, it was declared by the executives, was but a force to ward off any further wage reduction. Some of the union leaders admitted that the vote did not mean a general walkout of the railroad employees although it was reported that October 30 had been tentatively agreed upon by the union heads for sectional strikes of the employees if strikes were finally decided upon.

BISMARCK WINS 30 TO 13 FROM JAMESTOWN H. S.

Locals Very Game With Long End Runs and Used Forward Pass Successfully

MANDAN GAME FRIDAY

Bismarck and Mandan Will Clash on Mandan Gridiron Friday At 3 O'clock

Bismarck and Mandan high schools will meet at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon on the Mandan gridiron in a game which is expected to have an important bearing on the state high school championship race. Both teams will go into the game with full strength, unless the Bismarck players are stale and sore from their game with Jamestown yesterday. An immense crowd is expected, as there is no school in the two cities because of the teachers' convention in Mandan. Mandan has a light team, said to average about 142 pounds, but is fast and is composed of veterans. Many supporters of the Bismarck team will cross the river for the game.

Varying their style of attack and employing the forward pass with marked success, Bismarck's high school eleven chalked up a 30 to 13 victory over Jamestown's team on the local gridiron yesterday afternoon. Four touchdowns, with accompanying goal kicks, and a safety netted the local eleven 30 points while two touchdowns with one goal kick accounted for Jamestown's 13 points.

The visiting team, somewhat out-weighted but husky nevertheless, kept fighting all through the game and won a lot of praise of fans. Jamestown's second touchdown came in the closing minutes of play after hard fighting. Johnny Sundahl, Jamestown end, hurt his ankle during the game and limped badly after the game.

"Ty" Kludt was equally successful in long runs and line-bucking for Bismarck, while both Brown and Burke received several forward passes nicely, with Halloran throwing accurately. Moses, who played half in the first part of the game, and Grace who took his place in the last half, both gained a lot of ground. The lines were pretty well matched, the Bismarck line showing better than in any previous game.

Locals Score Early

Bismarck scored a touchdown shortly after the opening of the contest. Receiving the ball on the kickoff the local team marched straight down the field and Kludt punched the line for a touchdown. Scroggins kicked goal.

Jamestown evened matters up a little later when Drew, Jamestown's fullback, got away on an end run and sprinted over 70 yards of territory for a safe harbor back of the white goal line. Goal was kicked.

The second quarter opened with the score seven all and the ball in Bismarck's possession on the 30-yard line. The ball was lost on downs, a forward pass being incomplete. Jamestown backs plunged ten yards in two downs. A forward pass to Sundahl netted 30 yards, but Capt. Halloran threw Thomas for a 4-yard loss. A forward pass was incomplete and Jamestown punted over the goal line. It was Bismarck's ball on her 20-yard line. Kludt bucked the line for two and a half yards, Halloran added a yard, Alfson was stopped and Kludt made a 10-yard gain and first down. Moses skirted Jamestown's left end for six yards and got a bloody nose out of it. Kludt took the ball around right end for five yards, but the play was called back and Bismarck was penalized 15 yards for holding. Kludt again circled right end, making a gain of 15 yards, and then he went through the line for seven yards. Moses made it first down. Alfson failed on a line buck, and Halloran kept the ball on a ball-up play. Kludt made four around the end and Halloran punted 25 yards. Burke threw Thomas for a five-yard loss. Jamestown fumbled and Bismarck recovered on the 28-yard line. Kludt punched the line for two yards, Alfson was stopped and Brown dropped a forward pass. Moses failed to make it first down and Jamestown took the ball. Kludt ran back a punt 15 yards. A forward pass, Halloran to Brown failed. Another attempt went wild. Burke then took a forward pass from Kludt and netted a 25-yard advance. Alfson gained a yard and a half, a second line play failed and Kludt made 5 yards around left end. Halloran took a short forward pass for an 8-yard gain. With the ball on the 10-yard line a line play failed and Kludt was stopped in an attempt to circle right end. Brown took a forward pass and fell across the goal line. Scroggins kicked goal.

WILLIAMS SAYS OSS "CLIPPED" BY N. W. PLAYER

Minneapolis, Oct. 13.—While University of Minnesota students continued to circulate today petitions calling for severance of athletic relations with Northwestern, charging the latter with "unsportsmanlike conduct" in the game last Saturday Coach H. L. Williams made this statement: "I have seen Coach McDevitt's (of Northwestern) statement that Arnold Oss was injured when tackled in last Saturday's game. Oss was not tackled on the play. The play was dead and Oss was standing off guard when Penfield, a big man, dove into his knees from the side.

"This injured Oss seriously, but he would have remained in the game except for the work of Hathaway, the Northwestern captain, who 'clipped' him on the next play. Hathaway's purpose was so evident that his team was penalized by the referee.

"Shufflin' Phil" Shuffles Out Another Win

DOUGLAS

"Shufflin' Phil" Douglas, a product of the hills of Tennessee, learned to throw his famous spitball by throwing rocks down the mountainside. He tumbled the Yankees for a second time yesterday, and was victor over the redoubtable Carl Mays in a pitcher's battle. He's shown the best of the Giants in the big series. He formerly was a cub.

YOUNG WAITE HOYT YANKEES' HOPE TO STOP THE FAST-GOING GIANTS

New York, Oct. 13.—(Clear, chilly weather prevailed this morning and indications were that the eighth game of the world series would be played under ideal football conditions.

New York, Oct. 13.—(By the Associated Press.)—The world series may end today in a victory for the New York Giants. First, however, they will have to break themselves of the habit of getting whipped by Waite Hoyt, the amazing young man who earns his living pitching for the Yankees.

Twice already Hoyt has outwitted the McGraw men, permitting them to run the first time and only one score last Monday.

Art Nehf, left-handed and trustworthy, probably will pitch for the Giants.

The Giants moved to within one game of baseball highest honors yesterday afternoon when "Shufflin' Phil" Douglas obtained a 2 to 1 victory over Carl Mays.

The Yankee have won three. It was the first time since the contest began at the Polo grounds last week that the Giants pounced ahead of the Huggins' pack. Also it was the fourth triumph for the National Leaguers in the last five games.

If the Giants win today the championship is theirs, while the Yankees to wear the crown must go forward this afternoon and repeat in the game that would follow.

Studebaker

This is a Studebaker Year

We have been asked the question how we account for the tide of Studebaker popularity which has swept the country.

Among others, two fundamental causes explain it:

1. The outstanding cause is the value of Studebaker Cars, in quality, style, performance, durability, and price, demonstrated by the complete satisfaction and enthusiasm of nearly one-half million owners who know values.
2. The universal respect for and confidence in the integrity of the name STUDEBAKER which for seventy years has been the symbol of quality and fair dealing.

Crowning proof of the dependability of Studebaker cars is reflected in our diminishing business in service parts.

With approximately 116,000 more Studebaker cars in operation on September 1st, 1921, our parts business the first eight months of this year was 3% less than in the same period two years ago.

While our car manufacturing plants operated this year 41% ahead of last year, our service parts manufacturing plant has operated at from one-half to two-thirds of last year.

Studebaker Cars are standing up in service and staying out of repair shops, to a degree unexcelled, we believe, by any cars of whatever price.

and was informed that the Klan did not come under the law.

"If it does, it is not my fault," the witness said, "and if it is shown we are liable, we stand ready to meet our obligations."

Denying huge profits from the sale of robes, the witness declared less than 50 per cent of the Klansmen owned regalia.

"Our robes are not worn for the purpose of terrorizing people," he shouted. "They are as innocent as the breath of an angel."

The witness was pressed by Chairman Campbell for an explanation of the recent clash between a sheriff and marching Klansmen near Waco, Texas, and while he replied that his information was based largely upon newspaper reports he added that the parade had been authorized by the mayor, and that the sheriff, in attempting to stop it "seemed under the influence of liquor."

Stimmons said he had called for an official report but that it had not been forthcoming.

Pledged to Oath.
When the imperial wizard was about to read the oath of the Klan, the committee, after a whispered conference, announced he need not divulge it unless he felt so inclined. It was placed in the record after certain paragraphs had been read. It showed that members bound themselves to be "truly Klanish toward Klansmen in all things honorable," and that a man could not violate his oath except in testifying in cases of treason against his country, rape or malicious murder, as read by the wizard. It also pledged allegiance to the United States government.

QUEER QUESTION PUT UP TO RISK BOARD TO DECIDE

Is the family of a city workman, killed by a blow delivered by another city employe, entitled to receive compensation under the state workmen's compensation law?

This question now is before the commission. Phillip Elliott, member took testimony in the case involved. Martin Nelson quarreled with Obert Albertson, a university student, when both were working with a concrete gang at Rolla. Mr. Elliott said, Albertson was acquitted of murder.

According to Mr. Elliott if it is found that Nelson died as a result of "an injury arising in the course of employment" his family is made beneficiary of the law.

While demanding all-wool clothing for warmth, the American people on the whole are indifferent to the merits

The booklet not only contains recipes for lamb dishes but suggests many attractive menus. It also contains a photochart showing from what parts of the carcass economical cuts may be selected.

FOR A CONSTIPATED CHILD

A small dose of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will bring quick relief.

MOTHER, when one of the children is constipated are you going to give the first laxative within reach? It is dangerous to do so. Some have been known to rupture the intestines of little children. Don't be beguiled by the outside sugary appearance. Look into the formula. Calomel is seldom necessary; salts, minerals, coal tar, never!

Unlike these, Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is admirable for children, as it is for grown people, too. Mothers have been giving it to children for 30 years. They know it does not gripe, and is free from narcotics. The formula is in every package, and you can see it is vegetable. Just a combination of Egyptian Senna and other laxative herbs with pepsin. Use it yourself and you will find it is not necessary to take it every day, nor to increase the dose, and that it is pleasant to the taste. Bottles can be had at all drug stores, and the cost is only about a cent a dose. Have no hesitancy giving it to a baby in arms. It is absolutely safe.

Half-Ounce Bottle Free

Free recipe constipation, so even if you do not require a laxative at this moment, send for a Half-Ounce Trial Bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin FREE OF CHARGE. So long as you will write it kindly when needed. Syrup and package and address to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, via Washington St., Monticello, Ill. Write today.

CARDINAL GIBBONS' SUCCESSOR HAS HAD BRILLIANT CAREER IN CHURCH; IS 42 YEARS OF AGE

Tampa, Fla., Oct. 14.—Ten years a priest, all of them in Florida and seven years the bishop of this diocese preceded by four years in the Propaganda University at Rome, comprise the meteoric career of the young Archbishop of Baltimore who will ascend the throne long graced by the great Gibbons on November 30. Tomorrow Archbishop Curley will celebrate his 42nd birthday.

Michael Joseph Curley was born in Athlone, County Westmeath, Ireland, October 12, 1892, one of ten children and a happy boyhood included among his playmates the celebrated tenor John McCormack. Devoted to his ambition to become a churchman, first determined upon, he says at the age of ten—the new archbishop's career may be said to have begun at sixteen when he rode for the first time on a train his first trip away from home carrying him to Limerick to the College of Munster in 1895. From then on his rise has been steady.

Early Life

His early home life and success in school perhaps may have predestined a more than ordinary career for the prelate-to-be. His parents were fairly comfortable farmers. The River Shannon flowed through his father's holdings and at times flooded them.

His early education was received in the intermediate schools of his native town. He attended a school conducted by the Marist brothers, a French, teaching congregation, and had an unusual opportunity with them to follow a classical course. He was studying the dead languages of Caesar and Cicero as well as the living fiery language of Cicero and the first grade certificate in elementary chemistry, physics and mathematics by the Science and Art Board of South Kensington, London, which board had an examining center in Athlone.

Going to Limerick at sixteen, he pursued the course outlined by the Royal Irish University and in 1907 with high honors recorded throughout his college course, he was given his degree in mental and moral science. His course included classics, logic, metaphysics, ethics, natural theology, psychology and history of philosophy.

With his ambition for priesthood before him, he realized that there were other fields where young churchmen might be more needed than in Ireland. "While I loved the old land," as he puts it, "and its warm-hearted people, I longed to consecrate my life to the service of God and my fellow men in some part of the world where Catholics were less fortunately situated from the religious standpoint than in Ireland." He applied for a post and gladly accepted an assignment to the mission of Florida, and by order of the late Bishop Moore of St. Augustine, went to Rome to study sacred science in preparation for his priestly work in the Land of Flowers.

He entered the Propaganda University at Rome in 1909, where he had an opportunity of meeting and mingling with students from every part of the world. Forty-five languages of dialects were spoken in the university. He was given full marks in almost every examination. In 1901 he received the Bachelor of Divinity degree, and in 1903 the degree of licentiate of sacred theology. He was awarded medals in Christian archeology, liturgy, fundamental theology, dogmatic theology and scripture.

Suffered Attack

In the fall of 1903 he suffered a severe attack of neurasthenia of the brain induced by his heavy work and was forbidden by his doctor and bishop to present himself for further degrees. He relaxed his zeal in his studies, rested several months and then continued. He was ordained priest by Cardinal Forcino March 25, 1904 in the Basilica of St. John Lateran. During the greater part of his stay in Rome the rector of the university was then Monsignor (later Cardinal) Comas.

"I always look back on my days in Rome as the happiest of my life," the archbishop told The Associated Press man. "Rome with its memories, sacred and profane; Rome, the world, Rome consecrated by the blood of Saint Peter and Paul; that Rome guarded by the scenic Alban hills will never be forgotten."

More than once during his stay he had the privilege of an audience with the pope, Leo XIII, and his assistant successor, now Pope Pius X.

On June 29, 1904, the young priest bid adieu to the Eternal City and the early days of July found him at home in Athlone after an absence of four years from his parents. He sailed November 3 from Queenstown for New York planting his foot first on American soil November 9. He reported to his bishop, the late Bishop Kenny at St. Augustine on the eve of Thanksgiving.

His first charge was St. Peter's parish, Deland. With the exception of eleven months of the year 1908 spent as secretary to the bishop and cancellor of the diocese, all of the Father Curley's years as a priest were spent in Deland. While pastor at Deland he had charge of all the missions from New Smyrna to Fort Pierce and his missionary work kept him on the road almost constantly. There were very few people along that 150 miles of then almost barren coast, who did not know the young priest in those days. He built a new church and rectory at Deland; enlarged the church and built a small rectory in New Smyrna; gave Fort Pierce his first Catholic church and through it maintained the most friendly and cordial relations with his Protestant neighbors. In fact the new archbishop of Baltimore has always been proud of the fact that "my Protestant friends outnumber my Catholic friends ten to one."

The then priest became an American citizen as soon as the law allowed, swearing allegiance to the American republic with "all the more eagerness since I never owed allegiance to any other government."

Bishop Kenny died in October 1913, and on April 3, 1914, Pope Pius X named the young priest as Bishop of St. Augustine. He was then just ten years a priest, and thirty-four years a missioner, and thirty-four years a priest.

Just a few weeks ago he was enthusiastic in his great work. "All over the state there is a steady stream of converts coming into the fold. There never was a finer spirit among the Catholic people since the day when the intrepid Pedro Menendez knelt at the first mass offered on the site of St. Augustine. Twenty years from now will see the diocese of Florida one of the finest in the Southland."

His creed as he summed it up in a recent conversation is just three words—"God and country," and he boasts of his pride in his citizenship in the America of today.

WOOD'S PLAN TO MAKE JOBS

Hoover's Employment Commissioner to Speed Up Action Throughout Nation

By NEA Service

Washington, Oct. 14.—Jobless men and women all over the United States are demanding immediate employment.

"Quick results can be had, not through the unemployment conference, but through community work. That's my job—to get all states, cities and towns busy at once providing jobs."

So says Colonel Arthur Woods, former police commissioner of New York City, who has been appointed by Secretary of Commerce Hoover to coordinate work done to relieve unemployment.

"The conference is looking toward getting the whole industrial situation straightened out," says he. "My work, however, will be to apply prompt remedies. It is absolutely necessary to get something started in every community."

"There are thousands of men eager to work and qualified to work. They are out of jobs through no fault of their own."

"Every man of them is entitled to a job. He must be given the opportunity to earn his living. Where can the opportunity come from quickest?"

"Through the cooperation of governors, mayors, county commissioners, churches and civic organizations."

Work in Every Town

"In every town in America there is work that should be done, but is being put off for no good reason."

"In every state it is likely that the governor can bring about the employment of many jobless through rushing state work."

"Churches and civic organizations have been known to do wonders through campaigns. Was there ever a time when a campaign would mean more?"

Cooperation in every American community is the immediate answer to the unemployment problem.

"And while we are getting that into swing, the industrial conference the breeding circuit when it was organized 12 years ago in 1903. Ten of the original herd are still in the circuit. Only two of the original owners are now in the circuit, but the other 10 herds are in the hands of sons or sons-in-law. Some of the original owners are dead, while others have retired. Keeping the boys on the farm is more than a theory at New Salem.

The Circuit, with a little help from the State Experiment Station, employs a superintendent who tests the cows of members regularly and helps the owners keep feed cost records. The members advertise their purebred cattle as a circuit and show at fairs as a circuit. Whenever a purebred animal is sold by a member of the circuit, five per cent of the sale price is put into the treasury to be used for circuit promotion purposes.

The New Salem Breeding Circuit plan has spread to other communities and the New Salem Circuit has supplied these communities with foundation stock.

The Flasher Circuit has already become a distributing organization. Hebron and Hettinger each have organized community breeding rings, while several other North Dakota neighborhoods are interested and contemplate similar action.

The Circuit was designed by the North Dakota Experiment Station to develop a family of cows which will make high butter fat yields on prairie grass pastures where there is no shade, where flies are sometimes bad, and where the individual cow must graze several acres of land to procure her summer food, and consume a plain ration in a modest barn during the winter. Half of the cows on the circuit which have had what the Experiment Station considers a fair trial, have produced the advanced registry requirement of butterfat during the calendar year, this record certainly can be taken as evidence that such a strain has been developed.

To show how rapidly a typical herd of the circuit improved in average butter fat produced and in net profits during the first seven years of the circuit, the following table is given:

FIRST SEVEN YEARS' RESULTS: AVERAGE PRODUCTION COST AND PROFIT PER COW.

No. of cows	Year	Average Butterfat Lbs.	Average Cost of Feed	Average Net Profit
17	1st	1319	$27.25	$18.90
12	2nd	1401	24.66	19.20
17	3rd	1895	26.52	20.75
16	4th	2114	33.99	38.09
10	5th	2824	33.71	50.98
13	6th	2912	37.09	54.70
14	7th	4276	57.30	90.24

Only One Mortgage in Circuit.

The year 1920 was a short crop year, but the 17 circuit members averaged more than $2,300 of gross income per man from milk products and surplus stock. Of the 17 men there is but one with a mortgage recorded against him.

"Wrong Side Up" was illustrated in three words—New in the ears of the patriarch of New Salem and resulted in the accomplishments before recited. These facts about the accomplishments are furnished by the Animal Husbandman of the North Dakota Experiment Station, who has made a detailed study of the region and has kept a record of the performance of the circuit cows' cost of feed, breeding operations, etc. for the 12 years the circuit has been in operation. He is responsible for the plans and much of the detail of the work of the circuit. Hugh A. Townbridge is resident superintendent.

The Cattle.

Holstein cattle have been used on the New Salem Circuit because circuit members already were breeding that kind when the circuit was organized and gave evidence that they would cooperate in their breeding operations. That the Guernseys could have made an equal success under similar circumstances is evident from the outstanding results recorded in the Minot and Williston districts, where weather conditions are even more rugged than at New Salem.

Three Jersey herds at Fargo Park River and Hamilton show milk and butter yields which indicate that the breed can perform similarly under like environment, and while the Avshire has not had extensive opportunity to demonstrate in the North Dakota Plains country, there should be no doubt of their ability to do so.

Where 25 per cent of the North Dakota prairie grass has escaped being turned "wrong side up," and where good dairy cows, owned by a colony of co-operative farmers, have been allowed to graze it, there you find prosperity and happy homes.

A THRILLING MOMENT

Although Cecil B. De Mille's Paramount picture "Something to Think About" which comes to the Bismarck Theater next Monday, is not in any sense a melodrama it contains one highly melodramatic moment as Monte Blue, who has an important role in the picture will testify. The action carries Blue into the advance chamber of an underwater tunnel as a laborer. Here a leak develops into a cave-in which results in the death of the character portrayed by Monte Blue.

Of course, every possible safeguard was taken by Mr. De Mille to prevent accident. An iron ring, bolted into the safety door of the tunnel offered Blue a handhold. A corps of life guards was on hand to rescue Blue should he be stunned by the impact of water.

Blue gave the onlookers a thrill by remaining under water for many seconds over the allotted time. His head appeared above water just as the life savers plunged in.

In addition to Blue the cast numbers such stellar performers as Elliott Dexter, Gloria Swanson, Theodore Roberts, Claude Rains, Theodore Kottloff, Miffie James, Mason and Little Julea Moore.

REPORT BABY'S SKELETON WAS FOUND IN HOUSE

Minot, N. D., Oct. 14.—Coroner R. W. Pence and State's Atty. O. B. Herbigstad were to investigate on the reported finding of a skeleton of a baby in the basement of a residence at 814 Tenth avenue northeast, which is being enlarged.

A telephone call to the police yesterday said that the skeleton of a small child had been found, and an officer was at once dispatched to the spot and found the report to be true. The proper authorities were notified, but coroner R. W. Pence was out of the city. State Atty. O. B. Herbigstad said that he did not care to investigate without the aid of the coroner and consequently no action was taken until this afternoon.

The report was turned in to the police by O. M. Lee, who recently purchased the residence in which the basement is being rebuilt.

A thorough probe of the case will be made, authorities promised today. According to the condition of the body, it was indicated that it had been buried for some time.

Blanche Myers Concert Presents Pleading Program

One of the loveliest and most enjoyable musical affairs which local music lovers have enjoyed for some time was the concert given by Miss Blanche Myers at the Presbyterian church auditorium last evening. Her program was well arranged, full of melodic charm and a pleasure to the large audience which filled the church.

The first number was the Organ Prelude and Fugue—D major by Bach—D. Albert. This number was played well and each subject and contra subject were well brought out displaying excellent technique. The other three numbers of this group, "Whims," by Schumann, Valse—A flat major, by Brahms-Kreisler and Prelude Op. 3, No. 2 were varied and delightfully interpreted.

The children's group brought much favorable comment and every child there thoroughly enjoyed them. The first, "To a Toy Soldier," opens with the bugle, shows them scampering off to bed, gives a rest part for sleep and then the reveille. The "Music Box" by Liebhaf, brought out Miss Myers delicate touch. The Nocturne—C minor, displayed wonderful tone proportion and Scherzo B minor brought out an exquisite singing tone. Henry Halverson then sang several well chosen selections. "Mollier of Mine" by Toms, "Homage" by Teres, Del Riego and "Tommy Laid" by Marjokson were sung by Mr. Halverson. Miss Grace Myers played the accompaniment.

Miss Blanche Myers then played Rhapsody—Op. 119, by Brahms. In this number she went from fortissimo chords to the most delightful pianissimo chord with equal ease. The next number was "Tarantella (Napoli)" by Lerchitzky. Especial mention is due to the encore Barcarolle from "Tales of Hoffman," which was rendered at this time. Miss Myers arrangement deserves especial mention because of her wonderful simultaneous tone color contrast. The group, "Shadow Dance," "Hungarian" and "Rigaudon," by MacDowell were a delightful group.

Mr. Clara Smith was unable to render her group of songs on account of a severe cold. Frank Gale delighted the audience with Ellegie by Massenet. Ladite by Thayer and one of his own lullabys. He has a voice of quality with a great deal of expression. The program closed with the Cavallere Fantastique by Nourad. This is the story of a knight riding away into darkness and was well rendered. The last number was a "Tune with Variations" by Paderewski. This number was played by Miss Grace Myers at the pipe organ and Miss Blanche Myers at the piano.

South Side Huskies downed by the Richholt Rough Riders 12-0. The second big battle on the gridiron yesterday afternoon resulted in the defeat of Gerald Jackson's Huskies by John Anderson's Rough Riders twelve to nil.

The fact that the ladies did not remain after the Jintown game matter little to those young warriors for here was a football field with chalk lines every ten yards, real goal posts at the ends, officials with whistles and everything. Although the teams were better on the defense than they were on the offense it was a splendid game. The Rough Rider scores were made through end runs—two touch downs by Captain Anderson who failed to kick his goals. Although Jackson worked like a Trojan he was unable to effect a score.

The game was very well handled by Les Ellice and Ronald Fisher. The team lined up as follows:

South Side Huskies downed by the Richholt Rough Riders 12-0. The second big battle on the gridiron yesterday afternoon resulted in the defeat of Gerald Jackson's Huskies by John Anderson's Rough Riders twelve to nil.

The fact that the ladies did not remain after the Jintown game matter little to those young warriors for here was a football field with chalk lines every ten yards, real goal posts at the ends, officials with whistles and everything. Although the teams were better on the defense than they were on the offense it was a splendid game. The Rough Rider scores were made through end runs—two touch downs by Captain Anderson who failed to kick his goals. Although Jackson worked like a Trojan he was unable to effect a score.

The game was very well handled by Les Ellice and Ronald Fisher. The team lined up as follows:

Take me up before some judge and get me away somewhere, won't you?"

A few years ago, it was common to hear that line of talk from nerve-shattered drunkards. Ending that sort of thing, is one way in which prohibition is a success. Another generation or two will stamp the whisky evil out entirely. Drugs, also.

GUN

Naval experts try out a new American 16-inch gun, built to hurl a 2400-pound shell 35 miles. This comes when the world's people are clamoring for something that will keep shells from traveling at all.

Implements like the new 16-inch gun some day will be mounted only in museums. We are not far removed from the cave man who hurled a flint-headed spear. Progress will depend on what mothers teach their young boys. Disarmament begins in the cradle.

ACCIDENT

Five times as many are killed and injured each year as die from natural causes, says the Aetna Life Insurance Company. It says 23 are accidentally injured in the United States every minute. That's a total of 12,000,000 accidental injuries a year, meaning that one in every nine of us is the victim of our own or someone else's carelessness yearly.

All accidents are the result of carelessness. Teach your children to develop caution. It's worth more than a college education or a legacy.

FAMILY

In 1880 there were five persons to the average American family, and 5.6 persons to a dwelling. Census bureau says the average family now has 4.3 members with 5.1 persons to a dwelling.

This shows that, despite increasing congestion in cities, the average dwelling is less crowded than it was 40 years ago.

Does it also show that families are growing smaller? No. Pa and Ma, in their declining years, have their own place. They used to live with son and his wife. Old age is more independent that it was in the old days.

REVOLT

A peaceful revolt against increased taxes spreads through London, where borough councilors refuse to comply with the city council order to raise the tax rates. The war is responsible for the raise.

Having discovered that, when you win a war, you also win perpetual high taxes, the plain people of the world want to disarm. Most diplomats do not. If an election could be held in every country, the people would send delegates to the Washington disarmament conference that would end, not limit, armies and navies.

No governmental system so far devised by man is entirely controlled by the people, except around election day.

YOUR COMFORTS

Something that probably has puzzled you often is expressed in this letter from a reader:

"Years ago I paid 25 cents to have a trunk hauled by a baggageman with horse and wagon. Inventors gave us motor trucks, which now charge me $1 for the same haul.

"I claim that the notion, that mechanical inventions make for cheap production, is a fallacy.

"In the last 50 years, so-called labor-saving devices have been applied to coal mining, cloth weaving, transportation, farming and other industries.

"What is the net result? Have these inventions given us cheaper products? They have not. Prices have steadily advanced. Every time an inventor makes a short-cut in the production of any article, the price tends upward.

"My notion is that the solution of the cost of living is to go back to the old-fashioned system of making things by hand. Let us discard our burdensome machinery."

In the matter of prices, the writer of the above is right. On general principles, he is wrong.

He makes the mistake, common to most business men and workers, of measuring prices in terms of dollars instead of the fraction of his total buying power that each article demands.

He overlooks the fact that, though prices have gone up with the introduction of machinery, so have incomes mounted.

The reward you get for your daily toil is expressed in what you are able to buy—in the furnishings of your home, the food you eat, the luxuries you have, and the pleasure you obtain.

Your ancestors, in those "glorious" days before the coming of machine production, had none of the luxuries you regard as necessities. Where you push an electric button, they read by dim candle light. You eat, as a result of machine refrigeration, foods that were denied the richest kings of a century ago.

You see a movie every day if you want to. Your grand-father went to the circus once a year.

Time was when only the nobles could afford horses. Now millions can afford motor cars.

Individual articles cost more than in the days of hand production, but machine production enables us to have 1000 comforts to every one that was in common use before the mechanical age.

If the writer, who complains against machines, wants a really sound argument, let him ask this question:

"Would we be better off, and happier, if we discarded most of the devices made necessary by congested civilization, junked our machinery and cities and went back to the simple life? The standard of material living constantly advances, but is the price worth it?"

Department of Justice action against the Ku Klux Klan will await investigation by Congress, Attorney General Daugherty announces.

Having observed many congressional investigations in the past, and noticed that they usually get nowhere, you are safe in betting that the Klan will die a natural, not a sudden death.

PAYMENT

Germany signs an agreement with France, to deliver $1,800,000,000 worth of building materials. That is the way Germany ultimately will pay her indemnity. Allies have the gold craze and want Germany to pay in gold. But there isn't enough gold in the world to permit that.

French makers of building materials will suffer from the flood of German goods. War is always a loss, even to the victor.

HUSBANDS

An ash man, Marinelli Riselli, died from injuries received in an accident in the shaft of a sidewalk elevator in New York. This was on property owned by Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, who is sued for $250,000 damages by Riselli's widow.

What is your husband worth to you? What do you value him at? Countless millions of dollars, many a wife will answer. About 30 cents, would be the answer of some wives, if they told the truth.

DOWN

Joe Fuller, famous jockey and worth $500,000 when he rode for Lucky Baldwin, shows up, old and broke, in New York's Chinatown. He says, "I took to the dope hard. After that, I went down

ALL DRESSED UP AND WAITING

DISARM!

Disarm! the world is sick of war,
 Of cannons, and their belching breath
 Of fire on battlefields of blood,
 Where each brave soul must welcome death.

Disarm! Might never yet was right,
 Strength leth not within the sword,
 But in the hearts of noble men
 Who love and reverence God's Word.

Disarm! the mothers rise as one,
 Demanding that all wars shall cease;
 That nations cease their petty quarrels,
 And join to bring about true peace.

Away with sordid spoils of war,
 Away with this unholy loot;
 That reeking with a brother's blood,
 Proclaims itself illegotten fruit.

Disarm! else we must pay the price,
 In bitter unrelenting pain;
 Once militarism rules the world,
 And we shall plead for peace in vain.

Disarm! what nation is our foe?
 Whom do we fear with bated breath?
 Would we be great? then let us prove
 That we have courage, love and faith.

—Florence Borneo.

to decide upon the best means to employ for bringing about the changes which they are attempting to make in the school course. Improving conditions in society and the world for ourselves and our children, by means of public education, is in reality an experimental task, each city, state or country serving as a sort of experimental station where certain experiments are tried and specified problems worked for the benefit of all.

This makes it necessary if we desire to progress that these experiments be carefully selected and that the right sort of problems be undertaken and their solution found. It is also true that progress in educational science and art, as in other fields of human endeavor, can be made only by utilizing the ideals and achievements of the past. The best we can do is to build up and add to the progress that has already been made. This makes it necessary that we, as teachers and educators acquire ourselves fully with the achievements and failures of other peoples and times; that we occasionally stop to take stock, as it were, of our own achievements and failures and carefully examine the route by which we have come that we may better understand and utilize what we have inherited from the past to shape our destiny.

VAUDEVILLE AT THE REX

The Marcus Lowe Vaudeville and Pictures will be the offering at the Rex today. The big special feature picture, May McAvoy in "A Private Scandal," is one of the year's sensations, with a Hector Turnbull story, a cast including May McAvoy, Bruce Gordon, Kathryn Williams, Ralph Lewis, and winsome little May McAvoy has won new laurels.

This exquisite little lady has been one of the greatest film finds in years. Her flawless acting in "Sentimental Tommy" is now a by-word among those who follow the silent drama, and only the dullest heights for her.

EASY-MARKS

When the estate of Russell Sage disclosed millions of dollars in wholly worthless securities, the average man was amazed. Mr. Sage had been held as the pre-eminent example, almost personification of safety-first in investments. Yet the salesmanship of a goodly number of persons had proved superior to his supposed armor of unsympathetic shrewdness and thoroughness. He had been sold many a wildcat scheme.

Now a considerable industrial group of American confess they were sold a Soviet gold brick by Ludwig C. A. K. Martens, who posed here as the ambassador of the Soviet government and who finally got tangled in the police web as a political propagandist. He was not only "ambassador," but business agent. He claimed to have a large fund of gold at his command with which to purchase American materials and products. If only this government would recognize the Soviets or even legalize trade relations, all this wealth would be poured out in contracts.

Many wondered at the support he got. Now that is clear. He flim-flammed a number of prominent industrial concerns. He got the hard-headed, trained business men, heads of large industries, to even finance his activities here. He let contracts in the millions, but instead of making partial payments on them he got advances from them. He got these astute, practical men of affairs to supply him with funds while claiming to be master of a great hoard of Soviet gold.

In return they got the contracts. The Lehigh Machine company of Pennsylvania got one for $4,500,000 for printing machinery and its president finally followed Mr. Martens to Russia for personal information. He got it, and that no others may have his experience, he now states that the Soviet heads are just "plain crooks." It would be interesting to hear him and Senator France discuss the Russian situation. The senator was in Moscow for about a week as the personal guest of the Soviet government. Mr. Jennings was there a much longer time to close contracts already made by their accredited agent. Together they evidence to ordinary mortals that neither statesmen nor skilled business men are exempt from the list of easy marks.—Washington Herald.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

By Olive Barton Roberts

As soon as the Twins found themselves free, they thanked "Crawly" Crab for being so kind, and picked up the beautiful pink pearl for which they had been searching under the sea.

"Don't mention it!" begged Crawly in his best manner. "I'm only glad to be able to do you a favor, after you were so kind 'n' all about getting old Tubby Terrapin off me over there beside the Seaweed Grove."

But Nancy was looking after queer Mr. Cotton Spinner in a worried way, so Crawly hastened to add, "I was sorry to hurt your friend, but really, Miss Nancy, he doesn't mind losing his tummy anymore than you do an eye-winker. In fact every time he gets indigestion, he plucks it out, his tummy, I mean, not his indigestion, and throws it away. He'll grow a new one as quickly as the cow-pasture grows a mushroom, which is very fast, as you likely know."

Nancy looked relieved. "Then it's all right, I suppose," she said. "Nickle, let us take the pink pearl back to Cap'n Pennywinkle, so he can send it to the Fairy Queen. Good-bye, Mr. Crab. Thank you for everything."

Cap'n Pennywinkle was overjoyed when the Twins returned. First, because he was beginning to fear that some harm had befallen them. Second, because they had found the pink pearl, which Nancy brought out proudly from her little apron pocket.

"Wonderful! The very ticket!" he declared, while Curly, his seahorse, pranced around delightedly, folding and unfolding his curlicues of a tail so rapidly that he almost upset his rider.

"And now," said Cap'n Pennywinkle, "I think that we had better return the lost gem to its owner. Suppose you and Nickie carry the pearl to the Fairy Queen yourselves."

PEOPLES' FORUM

Editor Tribune:

The conference, when the teachers and educators of a state meet in conference to deliberate upon questions pertaining to public life and to decide upon methods which should be used to accomplish their results efficiently and a due regard for public opinion, requires that they formulate for themselves the things which they hope to accomplish and declare to the world the ideals and principles which are to direct them in their future work.

The task of public education is one of the most complex and difficult lines of work in which men and women can engage. Teachers and educators are continuously changing their minds in regard to what can be done or what should be attempted by means of public education. Each new vision into the fields of nature and the destiny of man brings, or should bring, a new statement of educational purposes, methods and aims. Efficiency demands that teachers and educators occasionally meet to formulate for themselves the specific things which they expect to accomplish and "I gained 12 pounds, my wife gained 26 pounds and my daughter is gaining day by day taking Tanlac. It's the biggest surprise of our lives and 'l' our friend, and neighbors are talking about it. This medicine has made a wonderful change in every one of us. Before I got Tanlac, I could hardly drag one foot after the other. I had indigestion perfectly awful. In fact we were all regular dyspeptics. We all swear by Tanlac now at our house. It ought to be in every home. It's the world's greatest family medicine."

The above statement was made by George L. Tessy, a well-known and highly respected machinist, living at 83 Downing St., Buffalo, N. Y.

"Tanlac is sold by leading druggists everywhere."

THE STORY OF TWO FROGS

("Even as you and I")

Two gay young frogs, from inland bogs,

Had spent the night in drinking;

As morning broke and they awoke,

While yet their eyes were blinking,

A farmer's pail came to the swale,

And caught them quick as winking.

Ere they could gather scattered senses

Or breathe a prayer for past offenses,

The granger raved that guileless men,

Had dumped them in the milkman's can;

The can filled up, the cover down,

They soon are started off to town.

The luckless frogs to quake,

And sober up on cold milkshake;

They quickly find their breath will stop,

They swim for life and kick and swim

Until their weary eyes grow dim;

Their muscles ache, their breath grows short,

And gasping, speaks one weary, sport,

"Say dear old boy, it's pretty tough

To die so young. But I've enough

Of kicks for life. No more I'll try it.

I was not raised on a milk diet."

"Tut, tut, my lad," the other cries,

"A frog's not dead until he dies;

Let's keep on kicking, that's my plan.

We may yet see outside this can."

"No use, no use," faint breath replied,

Turned up his toes and gently died.

The braver frog, undaunted still,

Kept kicking with a right good will.

Until with joy too great to utter,

He found he'd churned a lump of butter.

And climbing on that chunk of grease,

He floated round with greatest ease.

MORAL:

When times are hard no trade in town,

Don't get discouraged and go down.

But struggle still, no murmur utter

A few more kicks may bring the butter.

"WANT PEACE? THEN MAKE WORLD HEALTHY," SAYS NURSING EXPERT

(By Ruth Agnes Abeling)
Yonkers, N. Y., Oct. 13.-"A peaceful solution of all national and international problems could be reached through the right health program." It was Alice Fitzgerald who made the statement. Miss Fitzgerald is just back from Geneva, Switzerland, where she directed the nursing activities of a group of nations including the United States.

She is director of nursing for the League of Red Cross Societies, which is a federation of all of the Red Cross organizations of the world. "Health is the backbone of a nation," said Miss Fitzgerald. "And since the nurse is the important unit in establishment and maintenance of health, nursing should be standardized, not for one nation, but for the world."

International School
"Just let me give you a concrete example of what I mean," Miss Fitzgerald was digging about in the small leather bag she carried. So recently had she come from her journey that her smart dark velvet hat still covered her dark hair and shaded her keen dark eyes. Her great heavy wrap hung loosely from her shoulders. "Here it is!" She drew out a group picture. "My girls! Nineteen of them studying nursing and 18 countries represented among them!"

Then Miss Fitzgerald went on with the plan for the little school she established last year in London and how she hopes to standardize nursing through its influence. The school operates in connection with the University of London and its small group of students are the most promising nurses selected by the national Red Cross of each country, and given a scholarship.

"This little group of women, working back to their own countries with their new method. They are capable then of holding executive positions in the nursing world of their countries and by reason of their greater knowledge they will strengthen the world-wide nursing bond."

ALICE FITZGERALD

ing at London University and at the hospitals and clinics of London, are taught to do things in the same way," said Miss Fitzgerald. "We work on the principle that a sick man in China is very much like a sick man in the United States and that there should be one standard of nursing for both."

Strengthening Bonds
"After a year with us these women go back to their own countries with their new method. They are capable then of holding executive positions in the nursing world of their countries and by reason of their greater knowledge they will strengthen the world-wide nursing bond."

of this world-wide nursing standard would afford difficulties, for the Red Cross nurse is a part of the army and a part of the government.

"We need to be more considerate of the immigrant, among them over there we find that those who are returned because the quota of their people is full for the month they arrived in, rarely understand why they were returned."

Need Selection
"We need selection and distribution. There should be more arrangement made by which, if farmers are needed to till the yet uncultivated sections of the country, we can bring in farmers. And they should be distributed when they reach here instead of allowed to settle in the first city they come to whether or not they can make a living there."

"The trouble is the United States does not consider her immigrants until they reach her shores, while they really should be considered from the moment they make up their minds to come to this country."

AUTO COMES BACK
Yorkshire, Eng., Oct. 13.-James Bainbridge was motoring to the Mucker farm near here, when he was thrown out of his car at the foot of a steep hill. The car went up a short way, then backed down and capsized over Bainbridge. Bainbridge was unhurt.

RECORDS SENT BACK
Berlin, Oct. 13.-Germany is returning the copper matrices of disk records she took from British companies in her territory during the war. About 100,000 of these were taken for the copper that was in them.

BOY OF EIGHT VOTES
West Lewisham, Eng., Oct. 13.-Eight-year-old Denis Davies was registered by mistake to vote at the by-elections here. Since his name remained on the register, he was entitled to vote. His father let him vote his own way.

Germany, in 1920, had 3,000,000 members of cooperative consumers' societies.

Only 55 per cent of the Indians under federal supervision can speak English.

RUM RUNNERS PLEAD GUILTY; ARE SENTENCED

Devils Lake, Oct. 14. Hugh Bradlin and Charles Weston, rum-runners, entered pleas of guilty when arraigned before Judge C. W. Buttz on charges of transporting intoxicants, and were sentenced to eight and six months respectively in the county jail and a fine of $200 and costs each. Failure to pay fine subjects each to 60 days additional.

Bradlin stated during the hearing:

Thought His Time Had Come—Disappointed

"I never was more surprised in my life than when I took the first dose of May's Wonderful Remedy. My stomach trouble had been of eight years standing, sometimes so bad that I could not eat. I thought my time in this world was short, and believed it the last medicine I would ever take. It is now eight weeks since, and I am feeling better than for many years. It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and relieves the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. For sale at all druggists."

that the car he was driving, a new Buick roadster, was not his own property, but had been loaned to him by one R. A. Babcock of Des Moines, Iowa, and that the owner did not know he was using it to haul liquor. Authorities have written to the Iowa city to verify this statement.

Judge Buttz also authorized the state's attorney to enter applications for seizure against both of the whiskey cars, a Buick and a Ford roadster.

COURT SUSTAINS CITY OF MANDAN

Supreme Court Decides Against Mandan News

The supreme court, in a decision handed down today, sustained the city commissioners of Mandan in an action brought against the commission by the Mandan News. Nonpartisan, to collect a printing bill. Judge H. L. Berry, of district court, had refused to issue a writ of mandamus to compel the commission to issue certain warrants drawn on the general fund to the News.

Two printing bills, one for $250.73 and one for $292.16, were involved. During the years 1919 and 1920 Mandan installed a special system of street lighting. The Mandan News published resolutions and certain notices for bids. At the time of publication no special fund was provided. No agreement was made concerning payment. Subsequently a street lighting fund was established. The commission levied special assessments made upon the property within the improved district subject to levy for the cost of lighting, and afterward published the special assessment list.

The city commissioners offered to issue warrants drawn on the special street lighting fund, and refused to pay the News out of the general fund.

MAY REVOKE MAN'S PAROLE

Minot, N. D., Oct. 14.—With the confession and signing of an affidavit by William Pamfon, 24, held in the city jail in connection with the theft of a tire and other loot, from the Eby garage that he and Charles Belangie, also held in the city jail, on the same charge, stole the George State auto on Labor Day, State's Attorney Herkstad believes that he can have the parole of Belangie revoked by the state parole board.

Belangie was sentenced to five years in the state penitentiary last July, after he had been convicted of burglary in the third degree by a jury. He was paroled, however, because of his family.

No Disappointments

Millions of housewives use Calumet Baking Powder because of its dependability—because when they place their baking in the oven, they know it will "turn out" all right. They are confident of results because they know that no matter what they bake—pies, cakes, biscuits, muffins—the results will be the same—light, perfectly raised, wholesome foods.

CALUMET BAKING POWDER

never disappoints. Don't prepare bakings with expensive ingredients and then have them spoiled because of an inferior leavener.

Have the same assurance that the majority of other housewives have.

A pound can of Calumet contains full 16 ounces. Some baking powders come in 12 ounce instead of 16 ounce cans. Be sure you get a pound when you want it.
